The BioMedical Admissions Test (BMAT)

If you are applying for a place at the Lee Kong Chian School of Medicine (LKCMedicine) in Singapore, you will need to take BMAT – October. LKCMedicine is a joint medical school between Nanyang Technological University, Singapore, and Imperial College London.

The test helps LKCMedicine to select students with the potential to succeed on a challenging medical degree.

What's in the test?

BMAT – October tests you on subjects and skills that you should already be familiar with.

It is a 2-hour pen-and-paper test in three sections.

admissiontesting.org/find-a-centre

When do I register?

Your centre needs to register you. Registration opens on 1 September 2019 and the standard entry deadline is 1 October 2019, so speak to your centre as early as possible. Late registrations are accepted until 15 October 2019. There is an additional fee for this, so ask your centre to register you well before the standard registration deadline.

How much does the test cost?

For current entry fees, contact your test centre. You may also need to pay your centre an administrative fee. Speak directly with your centre to confirm costs and payment details.

What if I need Access Arrangements?

Access Arrangements are available if you have a disability or special requirement, and are normally entitled to support for exams.

You need to inform your centre of any special requirements when they register you for the test. They will ask for full details and a copy of your medical evidence. Requests for modified question papers must be submitted by your centre by 27 September 2019.

What support is available for BMAT – October?

You will find a wide range of free support materials on our website, including resources for Sections 1, 2 and 3 and practice papers. These will help you to familiarise yourself with the test format and question style.
